COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Political Ecology is a multi-disciplinary approach for understanding and examining the interconnected relationships between political, economic, and social forces and environmental change, occurring across spatial scales. Political Ecology rejects the view that environmental degradation can be understood as simple objective problems amenable to scientific or technological solutions—e.g., “there are just too many people,” or “we just need cleaner and more efficient production or disposal technologies.” Political Ecologists maintain that there is a politics to ecology, and ecology is political. For instance, natural resources, their distribution, allocation, and extraction, shape political and social institutions. Ecological circumstances in turn influence the development of social structures and institutions, creating challenges and opportunities for meeting basic needs. In circumstances of scarcity, decisions must be made over how resources are to be allocated, who benefits and who does not. Decisions are also made over which groups in society bear the burden of environmental degradation. Hierarchies, privilege, status and power all come into play, as social dynamics shape patterns of natural resource use, and define environmental problems, the causes and solutions.

In this course we will examine the origins, theoretical underpinnings, and recent directions of political ecology.

REQUIRED READINGS:

There is no required “text” for this course. Instead, most of the readings will be posted on Canvas in digital form. Other readings will require a search via the internet.

There are several recommended texts that I will be drawing from, and each is easily available via internet search at prices much less expensive than the UF bookstore – sometimes free. In Geography, the following are focused texts:

Undergraduate text:

Robbins, Paul, John Hintz, and Sarah A. Moore. Environment and Society: A Critical Introduction. Chichester, UK: Wiley-Blackwell, 2010.

Neumann, Roderick P. Making Political Ecology. London: Hodder Arnold, 2005.

Graduate Level text:

Bryant, Raymond L. (1997). Third World Political Ecology. Routledge.

Zimmerer, K. S., & Bassett, T. J. (Eds.). (2003). Political ecology: an integrative approach to geography and environment-development studies. Guilford Press.

Robbins, P. (2012). Political ecology: A critical introduction (Vol. 20). John Wiley & Sons.

Forsyth, T. (2013). Critical political ecology: The politics of environmental science. Routledge.

Graduate Students must read all required reading, and also two (unless specified otherwise) of the supplemental readings.

Course website: Go to the Learning Support Systems homepage [<http://lss.at.ufl.edu/>] and enter your Gatorlink username and password. The course page should come up if you are registered.

COURSE FORMAT:

The course will be based on an interactive learning approach (seminar style), and may incorporate at times lectures, videos, guest speakers, and group activities.

SEMINAR STATEMENT -A seminar is a shared intellectual experience in which the instructor and students inform one another. Ideally, the instructor operates as a tutor, charting the course and serving as a navigational aid. The students are the drivers, and the degree to which they are driven determines the success of experience. Preparation is essential. All assigned readings must be read and digested before class. Teams are assigned to lead each class discussion, more on that below.

One of the most important lessons of graduate education and essential art of scholarship is that of "respectful critique," learning to appreciate the strengths and identify the weakness of other works.

Every Wednesday, prior to class, students are required to post a brief comment (3-4 paragraphs) and 3 type-written discussion questions derived from that week's readings. These comments should not be summaries of the readings, but instead should reflect your thoughts, criticisms, praise of the ideas discussed in the readings. These should be posted on the canvas discussion board.

In addition, each student will be responsible to lead discussions on a specific set of readings on a rotating basis during the semester. The discussion leaders must provide a typed overview of the main points in the readings for the class, summarize the main arguments orally, and stimulate discussion. More directions below.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADE DISTRIBUTION:

Grades will be based on the following items:

1. Term Paper/Proposal – 75 points

The paper should be based on student's own interest, but it must be linked thematically to the course material. Paper topics must be discussed and approved by me in advance.

The following paper components need to be completed by the date below, and uploaded into the CANVAS DROPBOX.

- A one to two page typed description of the paper topic due on February 3 by 5PM.
- A typed description with title and outline due on February 24 by 5PM.
- The term paper is due on April 24 by 5PM.

Papers must be typed, double-spaced, 12-point times new roman font, 1 inch margins top/bottom/right/left.

The required length of the paper is text only, and does not include figures, tables, maps, pictures, references, etc...

Graduate student paper length: 15- 20 pages

2. Term Paper/Proposal Presentation – 25 points

3. Class Participation – 50 points

• Weekly Comments and discussion questions – 25 points

Every Monday, before class, each student must upload to Canvas Discussions, a summary and three typed discussion questions on this week's readings. The summary (3-4 paragraphs) and questions must reflect your thoughts, concerns, and/or views derived from the readings. These questions must be more than true-false/fact based questions, and should stimulate discussion. You must complete this for 12 weeks.

• Lead Discussion Group – 25 points

Each student is responsible to participate in leading class discussions on a rotating basis, as organized by the designated sub-group of students. These groups will be pre-selected by the professor. The leadership group will need to interact over the weeks prior to the scheduled seminar in order to ensure equitable distribution of work.

How the materials are written up and orally presented to the class is the responsibility of the group.

However, each group must:

- Prepare a Typed Summary of the readings with at least Five discussion points, to be distributed to the class.

*On the Wednesday prior to the designated class, the group must upload their summary, which will be accessible to all class participants via Canvas.

- Give an Oral Summary of the readings and identify key topics/debates in order to stimulate class discussion that week.

TOTAL COURSE POINTS = 150

Grading Scale (& GPA equivalent):

100-93	92-90	89-87	86-83	82-80	79-77	76-73	72-70	69-67	63-66	62-60	59-
(4.0)	(3.67)	(3.33)	(3.0)	(2.67)	(2.33)	(2.0)	(1.67)	(1.33)	(1.0)	(0.67)	(0)

Note: A grade of C- is not a qualifying grade for major, minor, Gen Ed, or College Basic distribution credit. For further information on UF's Grading Policy, see:

CLASSROOM POLICIES:

- Attendance & makeup policy: Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found in the online catalog at: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx> (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>).
- Grade Disputes: Should a student wish to dispute any grade received in this class (other than simple addition errors), the dispute must be in writing and be submitted to the instructor within a week of receiving the grade. The dispute should set out very clearly, the grade that the student believes the assignment should have received as well as why he or she believes that he or she should have received such a grade.
- Classroom Civility And Respect: It is essential that all students respect the rights of their fellow classmates to learn. Therefore, I request that you:
- Not carry on conversations outside the class discussion, not read the paper or other materials not directly related to class, not play music, and not talk on your cell phone during class.
- Also, if you come to class late, please quickly find the nearest seat at the side of the room so that you do not disturb your classmates.

UF POLICIES:

Academic Honesty: UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code

(<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/> )

(<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting accommodation.

Contact the Disability Resources Center (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>  <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>) for information about available resources for students with disabilities.

Counseling and Mental Health Resources: Students facing difficulties completing the course or who are in need of counseling or urgent help should call the on-campus Counseling and Wellness Center (352-392-1575; <http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/>  <http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/>).

Online Course Evaluation Process: Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>  <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>). Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results> <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>).
